

Website Update — What's New

Prepared 22 September 2026 · Bliss Rent-a-Car website · Not live yet — pending review

A large batch of website improvements has been built and tested, but it has not been published live yet. This page explains, in plain terms, what's in it — so the team knows what's coming before it goes out.

7

Main areas updated

12+

New blog articles

4

Car categories (was 2)

226

Files touched

1. New Travel Blog & City Guides

- A brand-new blog with 12+ articles: road trips (Hatta, Jebel Jais, Fujairah), city guides (Abu Dhabi, Al Ain, Sharjah & Ajman, Umm Al Quwain), and practical guides (documents needed, driving tips, how to book online).
- Every article has its own photo, so the blog looks finished, not placeholder.
- Blog articles now appear on the Homepage and on each city's own page, giving guests more reasons to explore the site.

2. Homepage Refresh

- New sections added: a "plan your journey" explainer, a Sports & Supercars showcase, a blog highlights slider, and a cleaner closing call-to-action.
- The old "Find My Car" page has been retired in favor of this new homepage layout.
- A coverage map and trust-building stats (e.g. cars, cities covered) were added to the homepage.

3. Car Listings Reorganized

- The fleet is now grouped into 4 clear categories: Economy, Sports & Supercars, SUV, and Luxury (previously a simpler 2-way split).
- Car detail pages can now show real specs — engine, power, country of origin, and a short "about this car" note — only when that information is confirmed. Nothing is guessed or invented.

4. Simpler Search & Filtering

- The car search page is leaner and less cluttered: filters are pinned to the side, and there's less empty space at the top.
- Your trip details (dates, pickup) stay visible at the top of the filters as you scroll, and can be edited in a quick pop-up instead of a big form.

5. Booking & Checkout Improvements

- Checkout now has one simple bar fixed at the bottom of the screen (price + Back + Continue/Pay), so it's always visible on phones and never scrolls away.
- The "Manage My Booking" page has a clearer visual timeline showing where a booking stands (Pending → Confirmed → Active → Completed), plus better-organized result cards.

Note for the team: Real payment collection is temporarily switched off for safe testing. Customers currently see a "payment pending" placeholder screen instead of the live payment step. Their booking is still saved correctly behind the scenes — this is a deliberate, reversible safety measure, not a bug.

6. Admin (Back-Office) Tools

- The staff screen for adding/editing cars now supports the new spec fields (engine, power, origin, about) and the new 4-category system.

7. Behind-the-Scenes Housekeeping

- Search engine sitemap updated to include all the new city and blog pages, helping Google find and rank them.
- Internal records (database notes, sample data) and Arabic/English text updated to match the new content.

All of the above is complete and sitting on this computer, ready for review. Nothing has been published to the live site yet — the next step is a review and go-ahead to publish.