

BRAND IDENTITY DOCUMENT

The visual and verbal identity of Bliss Rent.

"Dubai and UAE car rental with premium and value options, arranged for smooth arrivals and easy city driving." — the working description of the brand, straight from the product itself.

Marketing & Social

Prepared for

A straightforward, book-online rental service.

Bliss Rent exists to remove the phone calls and counter surprises from renting a car in the UAE — search, book, and pay on one website, with the car waiting when the flight lands.

"The UAE's straightforward, book-online car rental service — built for travelers who want a car waiting for them, not a phone call to make."

– About page subtitle, live on the product

Transparency

The price shown is the price paid — no hidden fees added at the counter.

Simplicity

Search, book and pay in one place, no account required.

Reliability

An inspected, maintained fleet — the car booked is the car received.

Local focus

Expanding city by city — Dubai and Abu Dhabi first — rather than spreading thin.

Personality & tone: confident but not boastful, plain-spoken over salesy, bilingual-first (English/Arabic) in every touchpoint. Bliss Rent talks like a well-run desk, not a hard sell — it states facts (price, availability, pickup time) rather than superlatives.

One mark, two ways to use it.

The logo pairs a BR monogram with a silhouette of the Burj Al Arab and a road-and-wave flourish — a mark that is unmistakably Dubai and unmistakably in motion.

The full lockup pairs the monogram with the "Bliss Rent" wordmark and its Arabic equivalent (بليس رنت). The icon mark drops the wordmark for tight spaces. Both are true transparent PNGs. On dark grounds — the site's own transparent hero header included — the artwork is rendered in solid white (the same CSS invert the live header already applies); on light grounds it runs in full color.

ASSET	WHERE IT'S ALREADY USED	FILE

monogram's own "B" free of text or edges on every side.

✗ Don't recolor the mark beyond its two approved states — full color on light grounds, solid white on dark grounds (the site's own header behavior). No other tint.

✗ Don't stretch, skew or rotate the lockup; scale it proportionally only.

✗ Don't rebuild the wordmark in a different typeface — always use the supplied artwork file.

✗ Don't place the full-color lockup over busy photography without a dark or light scrim behind it.

Six colors, each with one job.

These are the exact values the product runs on today — pulled directly from the codebase's shared color tokens, not approximated.

Deep Space Blue

STRUCTURE

Header/chrome background, all headings and structural text, the browser theme-color.

Muted Champagne Gold

ACCENT ONLY

Attention/warning tone and small accents. Never used as body text at full strength — it fails contrast at 2.1:1.

#F4F5F7

Sleek Platinum Gray

Page background wash, card and callout backgrounds.

#FFFFFF

Crisp Clean White

SURFACE

Card surfaces, and button text set against Luxury Berry.

#10B981

Success Green

FUNCTIONAL ONLY

Confirmation states only — "booking confirmed," payment success. Not a decorative marketing color.

4%

Recommended balance for marketing layouts — Platinum Gray and White carry most of the surface; Berry is the accent that earns attention, not the background.

Accessible text variants: where Champagne Gold or Success Green must render as small text rather than a fill, the product uses two darkened, AA-compliant shades already established in the codebase — Gold text #8D731E (4.56:1) and Green text #0B825A (4.82:1). Use these instead of the base hues for any small on-brand text in that family.

Cairo, carrying English and Arabic alike.

One typeface runs the entire product in both languages — chosen specifically because it renders Latin and Arabic script cleanly from the same family, with no second face to load or mismatch.

These are the exact five weights loaded in production (Google Fonts, Cairo:wght@400;500;600;700;800). "Noto Kufi Arabic" is named as a fallback in the font stack for extra Arabic-script coverage, but Cairo itself is what actually renders almost everywhere — keep marketing type to Cairo alone for consistency with the product.

Real cars, real Dubai, golden light.

Every image in production is composed the same way: the vehicle sits three-quarter or side-on, a recognizable Dubai or UAE backdrop sits behind it, and the light is late-day — never a flat studio white.

Economy — waterfront promenade, Burj Khalifa skyline, sunset

SUV — desert road, distant skyline, warm haze

Luxury — five-star hotel entrance, dusk, ambient lighting

- Vehicle occupies the right two-thirds of frame, clean negative space on the left for headline/CTA overlay
- A recognizable UAE landmark or landscape in every frame: skyline, desert, or hotel architecture
- No stock imagery unrelated to Dubai/UAE, and no fabricated customer photos or testimonials
- Golden-hour or dusk lighting — warm, not clinical daylight
- No visible license plates, third-party badges, or watermarks in any final image
- Fleet category sets the mood: Economy → city/waterfront, SUV → desert/highway, Luxury → hotel/dusk

Brand motif: a Berry-toned Arabic geometric pattern is already used as a decorative footer band — a ready-made texture for social banners or section dividers.

Consistent across every platform.

Bliss Rent's public social profiles aren't live yet in the codebase (the site's own social links are still placeholders), so treat everything below as the template to apply the moment real accounts launch — not as existing handles.

PROFILE

COVER / BANNER

ELEMENT	GUIDANCE
Logo placement	Icon mark only, bottom-right or top-left corner, min. 6% of frame width from the edge
Color use	Deep Space Blue or photography as the ground; Luxury Berry reserved for the one CTA chip per graphic
Typography	Cairo Bold/ExtraBold for headlines, Regular for supporting copy, always left- or center-aligned per platform norm
CTA style	Solid Berry pill, white uppercase label, short verbs only — "Book Now," "View Fleet," "Reserve"

Plain-spoken, never salesy.

The brand voice already at work across the product: state the fact, skip the hype.

DO

- ✓ Lead with the concrete detail — price, timing, location
- ✓ Use short, direct sentences and real verbs ("Reserve," "Book," "Browse")
- ✓ Write for a traveler landing at the airport, not a car enthusiast
- ✓ Keep English and Arabic copy equally clear — never treat Arabic as an afterthought

DON'T

- | | | | |
|--|--|--|--|
| ✗ Invent availability, coverage areas, or stats not backed by the live fleet | ✗ Use superlatives without a fact behind them ("the best," "unbeatable") | ✗ Publish placeholder contact details or social handles as if real | ✗ Borrow luxury-brand clichés that don't match the practical, transparent tone |
|--|--|--|--|

Example phrases already live on the product — safe to reuse or adapt in marketing copy:

"The price you see is the price you pay — no hidden fees added at the counter."

— About, Values

"Land, collect your vehicle, and begin your Dubai journey with ease."

— Homepage hero

"Reserve in minutes — simple online booking, instant confirmation."

— Homepage hero

"Everything happens on one website: search, book, and pay, without needing an account."

— About, Values

What's ready, what to build next.

Everything marked "Ready" already exists in the product's asset library and can be pulled today; "To produce" is real work still owed to the marketing team.
